

Author

Roy Tanami

Roy Tanami is a well-published outdoor photographer and writer. His photo credits include many major editorial outlets such as: National Geographic, Canadian Geographic, Time-Life Books. He has co-authored many books and his work has been displayed at museums around the world (see below).

As a writer and photographer, Roy is a Contributing Editor to Wild on the Fly magazine, and continues to write and shoot fly fishing articles around the world. His writing background outside of angling is also long and varied, ranging from television, to corporate case studies, to public exhibits.

Roy has been a fly angler and outdoor enthusiast for most of his adult life, and has traveled extensively throughout the world's wild places. Outside of photojournalism, he has experience as a professional angling guide, and is an owner/operator of a unique helicopter fly fishing lodge which was featured in Wild on the Fly magazine, and is part of this anthology.

Co-authored titles (photographs):

- ❖ The Nature of Arctic Whales - Douglas & McIntyre CDN
- ❖ Grizzly - Yamakei Publishers - Japan
- ❖ Killer Whales - Holiday House – USA
- ❖ Killer Whales - UBC Press – CDN
- ❖ Sockeye Salmon - Douglas & McIntyre – CDN

Museums / Aquaria

- ❖ The Canadian National Museum of Nature
- ❖ The Museum of Anthropology - UBC
- ❖ The Vancouver Aquarium
- ❖ The Smithsonian Institution
- ❖ The New England Aquarium
- ❖ The Baltimore Aquarium
- ❖ The Monterey Bay Aquarium
- ❖ The Oregon Coast Aquarium
- ❖ The Arctic Centre - University of Finland

Roy owns and operates Ursus Photography, based in Vancouver.
<http://home.lynx.net/ursus/index.html>